

Tim Farrell is an IP Attorney currently managing IBM's Patent Portfolio Management (PPM) Department at IBM. He and his global team are responsible for managing IBM's worldwide patent holdings. Additionally, Mr. Farrell provides counsel to IBM on a broad variety of issues relating to the licensing, assignment, acquisition and leveraging of IBM patents. Mr. Farrell has had several positions within IBM that have provided him with both breadth and depth into the IP challenges facing IBM's business and the IT industry. He is experienced in patent preparation and prosecution before the USPTO as well as the drafting and negotiation of patent cross licenses, technology agreements, and complex transaction agreements relating to Intellectual Property.

Before joining IBM, Mr. Farrell was in private practice in Salt Lake City, UT, holding positions at Workman, Nydegger as well as Snow, Christensen & Martineau.

Mr. Farrell holds a BS degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering from Brigham Young University (BYU), and an MBA from the Marriott School of Management at BYU, and a JD from the J. Reuben Clark Law School at BYU.